World Population Monitoring: Focusing on Health Morbidity Mortality: A Concise Report (Department of Economic and Social Affairs, Population Studies) (Population Studies Series) United Nations
This report documents the major reductions in mortality achieved since 1950 in all countries and the shifting burden of disease from communicable to non-communicable diseases. It also documents how that shift has entailed a change in the age profile of mortality. To ensure universal access to the health system, the report suggests that health-care coverage be expanded by pooling resources and by implementing prepayment schemes.
